REFLECTION

The God-given gifts of wisdom and intelligence often get short shrift in the teaching of Jesus, who thanks God in today's Gospel for having hidden the truth from the wise and powerful.

Jesus is not so much disparaging the gifts of wisdom and intelligence as he is rebuking the arrogance of people who believe their wisdom renders any reliance on God unnecessary. The wisdom Jesus dismisses is the acuity respected and celebrated by the world and the worldly, while the wisdom he advocates requires turning to him and knowing him as the only conduit knowing of God.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT...

The present moment is already exactly as it was ought to be, even if we do not understand why it is as it is.
