REFLECTION

When Jesus announced that we are to eat his body and drink his blood to attain salvation, he appalled his hearers. Jewish people were, and are, forbidden to consume blood. And his disciples found it a difficult teaching to accept. We have since come to understand that Christ was offering his entire self to us by being fully present in the Eucharist.

This is a matter of faith, not logical or scientific fact, that can only be grasped through the wisdom of faith. Wisdom invites us to a mature faith that is not dependent on earthly knowledge, but a deep understanding that we encounter Christ each time at Mass. When we receive Jesus, we become tabernacles bringing Jesus to the world.

Something to Think About

Be submissive to good, unbending to evil, gentle in generosity, untiring in love, just in all things.

LITURGY 101

Welcome to Liturgy 101 - back to basics!
Week 12: Liturgy of the Word (Part 4)
- Prayer of the Faithful

The whole community with one voice prays to the Lord. Jesus said if two or three ask something, my Father will listen. That is why it is important to respond with one voice “Lord, hear our prayer”. When we make our profession of faith, we mention “the communion of saints and life everlasting”. This is the reason that masses are said for the deceased. One does not buy a mass but makes a n offering for a loved one for whom we pray. Masses are also offered in thanksgiving or for a special intention. It is as a family that all together we turn to the Lord.
